A: Add the following configuration to your web.config: To learn more, see the MSDN documentation. SACRAMENTO – California’s statewide prison population spiked by nearly 50,000 inmates in a little over a year, the result of stiffer sentencing laws and a revolving door of increasingly violent felons, according to new data from the Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation. The surge also reflects court decisions that led to more felony convictions and boosted prison populations in other states. The number of inmates rose to 135,099 as of Monday, Oct. 1, up from a low of about 110,000 inmates in early January 2013, the data show. That translates to a 41 percent increase in the state prison system's overall population and a nearly 50 percent jump in the number of violent felons behind bars. Just as troubling, the majority of the newly released inmates are nonviolent felons.
