Combined small-incision cataract extraction with clear corneal incision and phacoemulsification in phakic patients. We evaluated the results of combined small-incision cataract extraction with clear corneal incision and phacoemulsification in phakic eyes. The study comprised 43 eyes of 43 patients who had combined cataract surgery and were followed-up for 1 year. The intraocular lens (IOL) was implanted through the same clear corneal incision in 35 eyes. The overall corrected visual acuity (VA) improved from 1.1 +/- 0.6 preoperatively to 0.9 +/- 0.6 at 1 year postoperatively (P =.01). There was a decrease in the mean preoperative spherical equivalent from -0.64 +/- 2.78 diopters (D) to -0.47 +/- 2.67 D at 1 year postoperatively (P =.001). Visual acuity 1 year after surgery was > or = 0
