What's New In?

- Launch a task with an input file and an output file - Keep the log files - Keep the results and display the results to screen - Can even restart the process if it doesn't work - All of this using a command line - Clean up the process after it finishes - Can use functions It has been tested with Windows XP and Windows 7. How to install: 1. If you don't already have BestSync installed, download it from: 2. Run the.exe file in the "BestSync Software\BestSync Tool\DeployTool" folder. 3. It may ask you for the password and then start the process of creating a task. 4. If everything is okay then press the OK button. You can test the process of creating a task by running "Windows Task Scheduler" to run the "BestSync Tool\DeployTool" program and then choose the "Create Task" option. For example, the following task will launch the "BestSync Tool\DeployTool" and the "Output" file will be renamed to "BestSync-Deploy-Log" and "BestSync-Deploy-Results". Task Name: BestSync Tool\DeployTool Start: 1 Task Period: 0 (This is the interval for the task to run) Status: Enabled Action: Start a program App Name: bestsync Program: bestsync.exe Arguments: /deploy /log /run /full /stop /full /quit /input "c:\temp\BestSync\BestSync Tool\BestSync\bin\Debug\BestSync.exe" /log "c:\temp\BestSync\BestSync Tool\BestSync\bin\Debug\BestSync-Deploy-Log.log" /output "c:\temp\BestSync\BestSync Tool\BestSync\bin\Debug\BestSync-Deploy-Results.txt" There are some notes that you should be aware of: - Check the checkbox if you want the program to run in "standalone mode" - You can change the following arguments: - "Arguments" = The program parameters. - "Command" = The command line to be launched - "Working Directory" = The working directory for the task. - "Working directory" = The working directory for the task. - "Log file" = The log file. - "Log file name" = The log file name. - "Log file path" = The log file path. It has been tested with Windows XP and Windows 7. Version
